The entourage effect

In cannabis science, the entourage effect is the synergistic interaction of cannabinoids, flavonoids, terpenes and fatty acids naturally present in cannabis, leading to better therapeutic effects. To ensure the entourage effect and the associated health benefits, we only produce full and broad spectrum CBD oils. Our full spectrum oil is characterised by a low THC content, which is below 0.2% in the EU and below 1% in Switzerland.

100% natural

We believe that hemp is like wine, the quality of the raw materials is reflected in the end product. Our fields have been organically certified for the past 25 years and our organic farmers are aware of their responsibility in terms of the natural resource based on which life depends and they seek to reconcile their work with natural cycles. We guarantee that our product is free from any chemicals, pesticides and herbicides.
